Highland Heights Police Department Donates Two Vehicles to Owsley County Sheriff's Office

Owsley County Sheriff's Office would like to say thank you to the Highland Heights Police Department and Jim Hyden for the donation of two vehicles.

A 2001 Ford Crown Victoria and a 2006 Ford Explorer. Highland Heights was donated to the Owsley County Sheriff's Office on 9-10-14. Upon receiving the vehicles, Owsley County Sheriff's Office donated the 2001 Crown Vic to the Owsley County Jailer (Robert Cope) for a prisoner transport vehicle. By using this crown victoria instead of the van, the gas savings will run into the thousands to help the fiscal court with their budget.

Outdoor Truths

by
Gary Miller

It was only about thirty minutes after daylight when a doe and spike showed up under my tree stand. I had planned on putting some meat in my freezer and this doe would have been perfect, but I just couldn't make myself let go of an arrow. I watched, waited, contemplated, and analyzed and still couldn't shoot the very thing I had come after. But here's the rest of the story. Only fifteen minutes earlier, as I was glassing the field in front of me, I saw a nice buck. It really surprised me because I was not expecting to see a reputable buck at this particular time and place. But there he was, an eight pointer that I would have been proud to haul home. I watched him that morning until the doe and spike showed up, at which time he eased into the woods. But I still have my doe, I thought. And after all that is really what I came for. But what was once my prize quickly and even strangely became uninteresting. After seeing the buck I was no longer drawn to the doe. I thought again that if I were to arrow that doe I might send that buck running a hundred miles past the Great Commission. So I let her walk. Three more doe came. I let them walk. A flock of turkeys came. I let them walk as well, all because I was putting my hopes in that buck showing back up. He never did. If I had to do it over again..... I would do the exact same thing.

Sometimes in life the possibilities of something great are better than the reality of something that is only good. The mind and its hopes are never stretched by the surety of what is in front of us but only by the potential of what might lie just a little farther ahead, into the unknown. Most of the time these decisions do cost something. I went home empty-handed. They also try our patience as we wait on the best while passing on what may be good or better. The truth is God has called each of us to a life that is filled with His best. His best will not be gained as we live according to what we can see and be certain of, but it will be lived in anticipation of what we have just gotten a glimpse of and is still just outside of our reach.

God will always ask you to wait on His best. The only way you will miss it is if you settle for what is second best, because it is already in front of you.

SOLAR POWER GETS HOT, HOT HOT

It's hard to rig the rules against increasingly competitive green energy options.

By Emily Schwartz Greco and William A. Collins With so many homeowners and businesses making greener energy choices, private utilities — along with big oil, gas, coal, and nuclear companies — see the writing on the wall.

Unlike some other denizens of the fossil-fueled set, this gang isn't beating oil wells into solar panels, retiring nuclear reactors, or embracing wind and geothermal power. Instead, these guys are trying to coax lawmakers into rigging the rules against increasingly competitive new energy alternatives.

You see, the bulwarks of conventional energy are good at math. And the math is increasingly not in their favor.

Solar panels are growing so affordable, accessible, and popular that sun-powered energy accounted for 74 percent of the nation's new electric generation capacity in the first three months of this year. Wind power comprised another 20 percent, geothermal 1 percent, and natural gas plus other sources accounted for the final 5 percent.

Coal didn't even register. OK, so that first-quarter surge was kind of an anomaly because it included the inauguration of the Ivanpah Solar Electric Generating System, the world's largest solar-concentrating power plant. Through a vast array of seven-by-ten-foot mirrors located on federal land along the California-Nevada border, this remarkable site produces enough energy to power 140,000 homes. Another vast utility-scale project aptly called "Genesis Solar" ramped up too. But the U.S. solar industry did install a record amount of new capacity in 2013. And once enough folks produce their own power on their rooftops and utility-scale clean energy becomes commonplace, demand for the juice generated by the dangerous and dirty oil, coal, gas, and nuclear industries will fizz.

Can you imagine the economy weaning itself off of fossil fuels by the middle of this century? That's what Denmark has officially pledged to do. Besides, we all need to visualize this possibility. Unless most of humanity transitions to a new way of life powered by climate solutions, global warming could ultimately render the Earth uninhabitable.

Can you guess who is trying to manipulate legislation to squeeze a few more years out of the dirty-energy status quo instead of helping make a requisite green transition happen? The American Legislative Exchange Council — a secretive national network known as ALEC — is stalking state capitols for just this purpose. ALEC's lobbyists push a broad conservative agenda in statehouses through templated bills they tweak for state lawmakers.

What are these bills calling for? In states like Arizona, Utah, and Oklahoma, there are efforts to essentially tax homeowners who lease solar panels. But mostly ALEC is aiming for something bigger: gutting individual state "renewable portfolio standards."

Those wonky-sounding regulations require utilities to provide a certain percentage of power from renewable sources at some set point in the future.

Alternative-energy leader California, for example, has committed to drawing a third of its juice from climate-friendly sources by 2020.

And who's paying for this dirty work? Edison Electric Institute (EEI), the trade association for the 70 percent of the U.S. utility industry controlled by private companies, is behind it — according to the Center for Media and Democracy. It's joined in this legislative attack by coal giant Peabody Energy, Exxon-Mobil, Shell, BP, Koch Industries and other big fossil-fueled interests.

It may be hard to believe, but so far, foes of systematically encouraging renewable energy growth are losing. Badly. Even in Kansas. That state's GOP-controlled legislature refused to repeal its renewable energy standard a few months ago in a 63-60 vote.

All 13 state-targeted efforts to chip away at or kill renewable energy standards have failed so far this year. Not one state rolled back its standards in 2013 either.

Who could have guessed that renewable energy would be so hard to foil?

Well, anyone who pays attention to all the jobs it generates.

The solar industry now employs at least 142,000 people in the United States. Solar workers outnumber coal miners in this country. In Texas, solar supports more jobs than ranching and California has more solar workers than actors. Wind jobs are growing fast too. They hit a total of 80,000 last year. Sorry, ALEC. Even the reddest states can't ignore this rising tide of green jobs.

Sag Hollow News

by Deron Mays

* Golf course superintendent Tony Sizemore, along with Matthew Oliver and Dan Dunn, in charge of the keeping Sag Hollow's course in great playing condition, aerated the greens last week. The process includes removing plugs from the greens with a machine designed for that purpose, and then spreading sand over the greens to fill in the plug holes. This ensures that the greens will be well ventilated and also soft enough to allow a well hit shot into the green to "bite", as the term used in golfspeak. Aeration must be done twice a year, in March and again in September. The first few days following aeration the greens are a little sandy and slow to putt, but after several watering cycles and a rolling machine to smooth the surface, the greens are back to normal.

* The upcoming weekend of September 20-21 Sag Hollow will host the annual Challenge Cup tournament (using a modified Ryder Cup format) between Sag Hollow Golf Club and Beechfork Golf Club on the sixth green. This week's league closest to the pin award was sponsored by Allen's Ambulance Service.

* There were two winners in Thursday's Skin Game. Deron Mays won the par 5 number 4 hole with a birdie, and Paul Moore won the par 3 number 6 hole, also with a birdie. The closest to the pin awards were won by Randy Osborne on number 3 and Paul Moore on number 6. Each received a $10 gift certificate. This week's closest to the pin awards were sponsored by Gay Brother's Logging and Showtime Pizza of Jackson.

Early Head Start and Head Start children & staff would like to thank Allen's Ambulance Service, Hugh Allen Moore and Billy Long for preparing our children with what an ambulance looks like inside, seeing and touching the stretcher and becoming familiar with the paramedics in the event of an emergency.

Owsley County School Board Discusses Energy Efficiency

Mark Saunier – President of Comfort Processing discussed with the board a project of upgrading the school's climate control to help with energy efficiency. Mr. Mason stated that the school would spend 1.5 million dollars in electricity in the next 5 years. He stated that they had great chillers and great control, up to a point. What they were missing were the VAC boxes in the ceiling that open and close to control the heat and cool in individual rooms. He stated that if they had control they could turn the chillers on and off when we need to. The same problem with heat and air is at the elementary school stated Mr. Mason. "If we could turn the boiler off when the building is not being used and turn it back on, it would save us money. We will spend $40,000 in gas at the elementary school this year!" said Mr. Mason. He stated as an example if the board would put $20,000 plus controls in, they would save that much in just a short time. Two other places the school loses energy and money is the high school library and the high school cafeteria. The fixtures have not been made in years, but you can still buy the bulbs. They stay on all day and burn an excessive amount of energy. Both rooms need replacing with energy efficient bulbs and a couple of classrooms that still need to be replaced. The elementary school still has the old T12 fixtures that need to be replaced like the high school classrooms. Mr. Mason stated that part of the roof at the elementary school needs to be repaired. "What we would like to do tonight is do a RFP to the KY Department of Education, no cost to the board to an energy audit of what our district needs and what money we can save," stated Mr. Mason. This motion was approved.

The Title II Report was given by Stacey Davidson. She stated that the teacher quality budget was almost $10,000 less than last year. "We were still able to hire 1 and 1/2 teachers out of this budget," stated Stacey Davidson. None of the home schools or private schools in Owsley County choose to participate in Title II. Mrs. Davidson stated that in the future, Title II will not be able to be used to reduce classroom size, so it looks like the teacher salary will come out next year and have to be paid out of the general fund budget. "If we can't use it for teacher salary, stated Scotty Combs, board member, "what can we use it for?" Mrs. Davidson stated you could use it for teacher retention and recruitment. In example of teacher retention, you can use it to train teachers to pay for college courses to go back and receive additional certifications, you can use it for stipends, you can use it for teacher appreciation activities, professional development and conferences. And for the recruitment, packages you can offer a new teacher: orientation and support you can offer them but it would be more about improving the quality of your teachers instead of keeping the class sizes smaller.

Melinda McIntosh was hired as Owsley Elementary Academic Coach and David Kelton was hired as the Owsley County Middle and High School Academic Coach.

A motion was made by Chad Mason to revise the salary schedule for concession worker and gate keeper to pay them hourly minimum wage instead of a stipend.

A motion was made by Chad Mason to surplus the fire extinguishers at a rate of $5 per small and $10 for large ones. This motion was carried. 60 new fire extinguishers were purchased for the school district.

Elder Doug Meeks

"All Scripture is given by inspiration of God and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness." II Timothy 3:16 There is little mention of the Bible in our society today. Is the Bible relevant in modern times? Are there answers to everyday questions and problems found in this ancient book? The answer to these types of questions is definitely "YES".

The Bible declares the eternal God as the Creator. He has provided us with abundant information not only on creation, but also on salvation through Jesus Christ.

A Simple Man

by Margaret Faye Hensley

Column #99

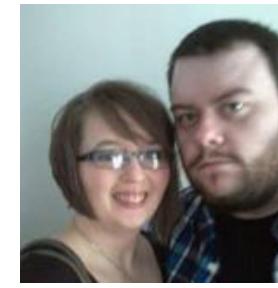

Clarence was a very practical man when it came to facing life's curveballs thrown his way. He had learned to adapt to the situation he was in and be happy. He learned to cook and wash his clothes after his wife Lorene had died. He had learned as a young boy, how to defend himself. He had carried his weight as one of eleven children. He had no tolerance for laziness. He felt there was no sense in complaining about chores to be done, or a job needing to be finished. He did not like to procrastinate. He enjoyed the satisfaction of a job well done. While in the military he would be the first man to jump up to begin the assignment given to his squad. He had been a natural teacher and was patient when helping others. He appreciated when someone more experienced helped him solve problems, so he felt it was the thing to do to teach others who were willing to learn. Clarence was good at thinking through a problem and coming up with a solution. He called his reasoning, common sense. Others called his reasoning, inventive or creative. He would shrug his shoulders when someone commented about what a good job he had done, and he would say he was just doing the best he could! Clarence had learned as a boy how to hunt, and how to take care of cars. He very rarely would pay another man to repair his vehicles.

THE ISLAMIC STATE AND PSALM 83

Have you ever had that feeling that something was about to happen? You don't know what it is, but something is going on. The world is teetering, it is on the edge, everyone knows it, everyone can sense that feeling that something is about to break, some major, life changing event is about to take place, but no one knows for sure what it is.

I believe the event could be the invasion of Israel as foretold in the Bible in Psalm 83. The people and governments of these lands have do have a common hatred of Israel. In the last few months something else has come up that these areas have in common: The Islamic State (IS).

A breakdown of Psalm 83 gives us the general gist of what happens.

Verses 1-5 speaks of the reason for the invasion, "Come, and let us cut them off from being a nation; that the name of Israel may be no more in remembrance" (V4). The goal is to annihilate Israel. Verse 2 mentions "enemies" and verse 5 speaks of a confederacy; so we know the invasion comes from more than one source.

Verses 6-8 tell us who the invading forces are. The Bible uses the names from the Biblical days, but with today's names the people and land areas are Lebanon, Syria, Jordan, Gaza, the West Bank and the Sinai.

The rest of the Psalm tells the outcome of the invasion. The invaders are destroyed and from verse 14 it appears that all of them burn, "as the fire burneth a wood." Also, the first two chapters of Amos describe all these lands being destroyed by fire.

But does the Islamic State have anything to do with this?

If the timeframe for this Biblical invasion is anytime close, say within the next twenty years, one would have to think yes. Here is a rundown of how the Islamic State has been involved with each of the areas mentioned in Psalm 83 just in the past few weeks.

LEBANON

The BBC reports (<http://www.bbc.com/news/world-middle-east-29126129>) that the Islamic State may be moving into Lebanon. The story tells of IS militants descending on the town of Arsai from the mountains. The report goes on to tell of the turmoil in Lebanon that is resulting in Lebanon's political elites "gradually losing control over the masses."

SYRIA

Unless you have been living in a hole or have been recently hatched, you have at least heard that the Islamic State has been causing problems in Syria. Just in the last month IS has captured an airport and killed hundreds of Syrian troops. President Obama, on September 10 authorized the use of airstrikes in Iraq and Syria because of the havoc the IS has been causing.

JORDAN

On August 29 Reuters reported of a Jordanian man leaving his wife and children to go fight with the IS (<http://www.reuters.com/article/2014/08/29/us-jordan-security-islamic-state-idUSKBN0GT-1CO20140829>). The man was "highly regarded in his profession as a radiologist." So this is not some disillusioned teenager that was conned into something.

On September 8 ABC News and USA Today, among others featured a story that the United States "fears" IS will attack Jordan. (<http://abcnews.go.com/Politics/wireStory/us-fears-islamic-state-group-attack-jordan-25360435> and <http://www.usatoday.com/story/news/politics/2014/09/08/islamic-state-jordan/15306193/>).

The Kentucky Emergency Management Association is a Kentucky-based non-profit corporation originally established in 1991. Activities of the Association seek to develop professionalism among those persons in Kentucky actively engaged in emergency management activities and to provide a forum for discussion of the common experience, ideas and suggestions of its members related to emergency management.

At the 2014

KEMA annual membership meeting held earlier this month, Association President Doug Tackett bestowed the Credential for Professionalism upon William R. Turner the director of the Campbell County Office of Emergency Management (former Owsley County Emergency Management Director) for meeting the requirements and standards of the program in the areas of experience, dedication to integrity, and training as well as contributions to the profession and field of emergency management in Kentucky. Turner is one of only three county emergency management directors who are "certified".

"The Kentucky Certified Emergency Manager documents the candidate's knowledge, skills, and ability by presenting an application packet for review. The CKEM is not limited to the local emergency manager; the private sector and academia also have emergency managers. The CKEM is KEMA's Credential for Professionalism; not all emergency managers deserve to be a CKEM – only those who take that extra effort" Tackett said.

Eastside News

by Ruby Callahan

Hello from Eastside! We are having our first Fall weather early. Everyone is getting ready for Winter.

Please keep all our sick neighbors in your prayers. Patton Dale Harris lost his first and only grandchild; Toby Lee Braxton Hall on September 2nd. He was 8 months old. Most people have probably seen his picture on Facebook. His mother Jessica, kept everyone updated on his condition while he was in the hospital. Dale's son Jacob called to tell us that their grandmother Connie Cope had passed away.

She was Toby's great grandmother. She has been in poor health for some time.

Rev. Pamela Wiilhite called me a few days ago to ask about everyone. She has everyone she has met on her prayer list.

Bible Verse: "O Praise the Lord, all ye nations: praise him, all ye people. For his merciful kindness is great toward us: and the truth of the Lord endureth forever. Praise ye Lord." (Psalm 117:1-2)

Notice to Customers of Kentucky Power Company

Please Take Notice that on September 18, 2014 Kentucky Power Company ("Kentucky Power") expects to file with the Kentucky Public Service Commission (Commission) an application for approval of a new Economic Development Rider ("Tariff E.D.R."). The proposed effective date for Tariff E.D.R. is October 19, 2014.

Tariff E.D.R. is intended to encourage economic development in Kentucky Power's service territory through limited-term reductions in billing demand charges to qualifying new and existing retail customers taking service under Tariff L.G.S., Tariff Q.P., or Tariff C.I.P.-T.O.D. that make application for service under the Rider.

Service under Tariff E.D.R. is limited to qualifying customers on a first-come, first-served basis until such time as a total of 250 MW of new load has been added to Kentucky Power's system under the tariff. The discount may be further limited during such periods Kentucky Power lacks sufficient capacity.

A special contract, which must be filed with the Commission, is required for service under Tariff E.D.R., and service under the tariff is conditioned upon approval of the special contract by the Commission. The special contract will be for a term equal to two times the period of discounted service.

Two limited reductions in billing demand charges are available under the tariff. The Incremental Billing Demand Discount ("IBDD") is an annually declining discount available to qualifying customers for a period equal to one-half the special contract term. The Supplemental Billing Demand Discount ("SBDD") is discretionary with Kentucky Power and is in addition to the IBDD. The SBDD is available to qualifying customers that also create at least 25 new permanent job opportunities in the facility and that maintain those job opportunities in each discount year. The amount of SBDD is determined by the actual number of jobs maintained in each discount year.

The present rates and the proposed rates (including the maximum discounts) for each customer classification to which the proposed rates will apply, along with the amount of change requested for each customer classification, are shown in the table below:

² Assumes a ten-year contract. Rates will decline proportionately for shorter term contracts.

Happy Grandparents Day

Happy Grandparents Day to the grandparents at Indian Creek Presbyterian Church

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Mammography is a tool that searches for cancer when symptoms may not be apparent. A mammogram detects lumps, changes in breast tissue or calcifications too small to be found in a physical exam.

A woman at high risk of breast cancer because her mother or sister was diagnosed with the disease should have her first Mammogram at age 40 or 10 years before the age at which the relative was diagnosed, whichever comes first. Screening Mammograms are for women with no sign of a breast problem.

Owsley County Medical Clinic offers a Mammogram Screening for $40 through the month of October. This includes the radiologists reading. Mammograms are available between the hours of 10:00 AM and 3:00 PM. Schedule yours today at 593-6395.

School Nurse Visits Head Start Classrooms

Owsley County Head Start children would like to thank Ms. Jennifer, our school nurse, for visiting our classrooms during our Medical Friends Unit - teaching us about washing our hands, covering our cough and sneezes to prevent the spread of germs so we will stay healthy.
